Snake Charmers.

Some years ago, when Cairo was the Cairo of the "Arabian Nights," and not the disreputable-looking second-rate French country town it is now, we inquired for any possible successor to the old snake-charmer whom old Anglo-Indians may remember to have seen playing with his cobras before Shepherd's Hotel. (Was he not at the Zoo in the wonderful year 1851, and did he not promptly decline, without thanks, our offer of two or three lively capellos then in the collection?) After some trouble we lighted on a furtive Arab caitiff, in the usual long blue shirt, girded about the waist to form the upper part into a species of splenchan or sperran. In this he seems to keep his dirty pipe, his packet of frosty tobacco, and whatever small portable property he had acquired more or less honestly. With him we resorted to divers ancient stables and outbuildings in the suburbs, and conjured him to find a snake. Placing a small wooden pipe between his lips he tootled quaintly an old Arab air, now low, but hardly soft, and now high and loud. Thus he wandered, tootling and furtive, and we following and expectant. At last, arriving at an old half dark, evil-smelling stable he appeared to get excited, gave vent to still wilder squeaks and squeals, circled round and round under a big palm tree beam, and at last, with an ear-splitting note, he squatted suddenly down, dashed his hand apparently upward, and clutched a big cobra, which he evidently intended us to believe had been charmed from above. I say apparently, for I am certain that he lost the brute out of the "bosom" of his blouse. Now this was very pretty, but hardly satisfactory; so, instead of giving our charmer "backsheesh" (having a man in authority amongst us,) we promised him bastinado if he did not capture a snake in the open. Very limp about the loins and very yellow did that Arab caitiff show through his brown skin, but we were relentless. "Cobro or Toko!" and so he searched with the greatest care—not to find what, in fact, he did not want to find. At last one of us spied the tail of a good-sized snake protruding from some unnamable rubbish. "Now, my friend, catch us that snake, or"—He tootled not—the "or" had taken the music out of him—and, overcoming with a visible effort his shuddering horror, he caught the tail in one hand and rapidly ran the other up the body till he reached the neck. Pinning this between his finger and thumb, he caught up the tail of his blouse, and forcing the brute to close his jaws upon it, tore it out rapidly, again and again, evidently with the intention of tearing out the poison fangs, which he did at last, to a certain extent, to his own satisfaction; but he was wary to the end, and, instead of putting it into his pouch with his old friend, he knotted it up in a rag. And so he went his way and we went ours, with a gentle feeling that if we had been "done" we were to a certain extent aware of the fact. By the way, unless my memory has utterly given way to my imagination, I distinctly remember seeing in 1851 the cobras striking and drawing blood from the arms of the old Arab snake-charmer and his clever boy. Many wonderful things he did, such as producing a cataleptic rigidity in the snake, as easily removed as produced—things I should like to see again.—The London Field.

Judges Who Wear Gowns and Their Clerks $40,000 a Year.

It is not true, the attaches of United States Supreme Court say, that any of the Justices have had gowns made in Paris by Worth. They are all home made, and have all been made by one family of people for nearly forty years. Zach Chandler had a very poor opinion of these gowns, for it is said of him that he once said to Salmon P. Chase, a former Chief Justice: "Salmon, when you have your d—d old jacket on you look every inch a judge." There is no reason why one of these gowns should be called a jacket, for the skirt reaches the floor. The gowns are put on the justices in what is called the robe room, adjoining the court, at five minutes to 12 o'clock, for the judges never go upon the bench until high noon. Then, after the Marshal's deputy sings his song about "God bless the United States and the Justices of this court," or words to that effect, the arrival of the justices having been previously announced, they take their seats and are ready for business.

The clerkship of the court is worth more than the salary of four of the Justices, as it is said to frequently pay over $40,000 per year. The charges are simply terrible. It costs about a dollar for the clerk to look at you, and another dollar to get out of his sight. They have a little talk then of keeping the decisions back as long as possible, often a couple of months, and in the mean time if any one wants a copy of the decision it costs $2 for each page of one hundred words. There is no good reason why the decisions should not be put in type the day they are delivered, and furnished as the debates of Congress are furnished, the day following; but this was not the practice sixty years ago, and they never do anything about the court except in the time-honored but excessively slow way. This, all agree, would be a great convenience, but it would take $10,000 a year out of the fees of the clerk, and of course it is not done. Several times bills have been prepared for introduction in Congress on the subject, but somehow nothing was heard of them afterward. Those who proposed them were convinced that it was not the custom, and they let the matter drop. The Supreme Court has always held that every bill relating to the court must first be sent to them for inspection, and strange as it may appear, they have always carried this point in their respect.

Ancient Chinese Burial.

The Celestial Empire gives in a recent number an account of a Chinese burial in former times. A man of means purchased his coffin when he reached the age of forty. He then had it painted three times every year with a species of varnish, mixed with pulverized porcelain—a composition which resembled a silicate paint or enamel. The process by which the varnish was made has been lost to the Chinese. Each coating of this paint was made of some thickness, and when dried had a metallic firmness resembling enamel. Frequent coats of this, if the owner lived long, caused the coffin to assume the appearance of a sarcophagus, with a foot or more in thickness of this hard, stone-like shell. After death the veins and the cavities of the stomach were filled with quicksilver for the purpose of preserving the body. A piece of jade was then placed in each nostril and ear and in one hand, while a piece of bar-silver was placed in the other. The body thus prepared was put on a layer of mercury within the coffin; the latter was sealed and the whole committed to its last resting-place. When some of these sarcophagi were opened after the lapse of centuries the bodies were found in a wonderful state of preservation, but they crumbled to dust on exposure to the air.

Barnes on Drunkards.

"A man can confess Jesus better when he is drunk than when he is sober, he can just come and throw himself, limber as a rag, into the arms of Jesus. Suppose a man comes here limber drunk, and confesses Christ, and then goes out and puts another quart of whisky under his belt, and, going home, he falls off his horse and breaks his neck, that man will go straight to heaven, as sure as God is God, and if he don't I would be willing to go to hell for him."

DISGRACEFUL.

Which Term is Applied to the Nicholas Convention.

How the Democrats of Our Sister County Handle the Wires.

And What the Duties are that a Judge of the Court of Appeals is Elect-ed to Perform.

Flemingsburg Democrat.

The convention which assembled in Calisle Monday for the purpose of instructing the vote of Nicholas county in the Grayson convention was one of the most boisterous, unmanageable and infamous it has ever been our sad misfortune to look upon.

The convention was called to order shortly before 2 o'clock by John P. Norvell, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee. Nominations for chairman being in order, John A. Campbell was nominated by the Harbeson men and Judge Holiday by the Pritchard side. The crowd having adjourned from the court-house to the yard, it was decided that the vote be taken by stretching ropes and dividing the crowd. The division showed conclusively that the Campbell side was much the larger. This was admitted by Keene Pritchard himself, but the chairman, whose eyes are affected, could not see it in that light, and so announced that he was unable to decide who had the majority.

After some wrangling a committee was then appointed to take the vote of each side as it passed through the gate. The committee was composed of Billy Wilson, Sam. Stone, Neal. Wagner and James Henry.

The voting was begun on the Holladay side and it was half-past four before they concluded to yield the polls. The Campbell men were then given a chance to try their strength. They voted in a continuous stream until half-past five, when a row was raised at the tellers' desk between John Campbell, Jr., and a fellow named Wilson (whom we will nick-name "Tug" for short). During this difficulty a crowd gathered around the table, a hand with wiry fingers edged its way through the solid mass of humanity, the poll book disappeared, and shortly afterwards we saw it moving toward the court house, pulling behind it T. F. Hargis. Now don't understand us to say that the poll book was taken by Mr. Hargis—he who formerly lived among us as a student, whom Fleming county supported in the convention in his race for the Senate; whom Fleming county raved over in his race for Circuit Judge; whom Fleming county groomed in his race for Criminal Judge, and for whom she instructed her delegates over the head of one of her own county men; whom Fleming county stood by with undying devotion in the memorable Owingsville convention which made him Chief Justice of the State of Kentucky—we say this man was not the criminal who committed the theft; he simply stood behind him and patted his back, and when the job was finished relieved him of his goods.

By this strategic movement dozens of voters were cut off from the privilege of exercising their rights, and as might be supposed they were violent in their denunciations of the outrageous conduct. Mr. Hargis then, who was neither chairman of the meeting nor one of the committee of tellers, proceeds with the boys to the courthouse steps and declares Holiday elected by five majority.

Of course no set of men could assent to such infamous action as this, and the consequence was that two conventions were organized and two sets of delegates selected to represent the county at Grayson. John A. Campbell was selected as chairman of the Harbeson men, and with the two conventions side by side it was plain to see that Harbeson was decidedly in the majority. The convention presided over by Campbell instructed for James P. Harbeson, with J. Smith Hurt as second choice.

Thus ends a chapter in political conventions, the like of which we have never seen before, and we sincerely trust we shall never see its counterpart.

In chronicling in plain English the facts of this meeting, we expect to suffer more than those whose rascality we unveil. We have no doubt there are hundreds of men in this county and in this district who would not believe the report if told them by their own brother, and if we had not been an eye witness, we believe we would have been one of that number. But as "seeing is believing," and as it is a duty we owe our readers to present to them the happenings of the times, we lay before them the bare facts regardless of the consequence.

Referring to your card in the DAILY BULLETIN, which carried with it a threat to assail the personal characters of the members of the Aberdeen Band, we take this opportunity to say that we challenge you to truthfully produce anything derogatory to the character of any member of this organization. As to the matter of slander, we are prepared to meet that in a prompt and effective way.

ABERDEEN CORNET AND REED BAND.

We learn that the committee to erect the jail have agreed to straighten the old sewer through the jail lot, and enlarge it, provided the city will meet them on the line of Third street and construct the sewer to the grating in Grave alley. The committee have conferred with the committee on public improvements, but it declines to act until council meets. We are afraid the delay will force the county to construct upon the line of the old sewer, and the city will thus lose the chance of a valuable improvement. The jail committee and contractor need every foot of space for material, and are greatly inconvenienced by the delay, and say they can wait no longer.

Ruggles Camp Meeting.

Another Great Day—Three Sermons
by Revs. H. C. Northcott, H. D. Rice and G. D. Watson—Bible
Reading by Rev. G. D. Watson.—Childrens' Meeting—Mothers' Meeting.

THE ALTAR CROWDED.

From our Special Correspondent.

WEDNESDAY AUG. 23RD.

Before breakfast meeting was conducted by Rev. C. Foster. A bible reading by Rev. G. D. Watson, D. D., at 8 a. m. The subject of pure religion was discussed in such a clear, forcible and practical way as to be helpful to all. Twenty-seven presented themselves at the altar, who sought the blessing of sanctification, and three found it to the joy of their souls. Rev. H. C. Northcott at 11 a. m., discoursed on Eph. 5:18: "And be not drunk with wine wherein is excess, but be filled with the spirit." He spoke of drunkenness and its consequences and that to be filled with the spirit all must give up drinking, reveling and such like things. Also that to be filled with the spirit is to have nothing but God in the soul and the filling is necessary to the discharge of duty. All pronounced this alone, a fine sermon.

At 1 1/2 p. m., sister Whittrige held a children's meeting in one of the tents. The tent was crowded with children ten of whom professed conversion. During the meeting the grown people surrounded the tent. God bless sister Whittrige and the children. May many more be saved. Rev. H. D. Rice of the Cincinnati Conference, preached at 3 p. m., on Josh. 3:5. "Sanctify yourselves to-day for to-morrow the Lord will do great thing for you." He said sanctification implied the setting apart of sin, and our possessions was a condition of God's working with His people and rising unto the higher life, the unsanctified are a stumbling block, when we have sacrificed all the great work is God's.

After the sermon Dr. Watson exhorted, and many crowded to the altar, three professed to obtain a great blessing. Several related their experience of the joyous presence of the Savior, that all rejoiced with them. Isaac Horner, of Newport, told of a little boy in his class who waited to speak until he could not stand it any longer, and he asked "would it be any harm if I speak?" Of course he said no, and the little fellow told how he loved Jesus, and how happy he felt. Brother Walsh told of the conversion of his boy and how he took the sacrament, and all felt happy, and many offered a silent prayer that God would save children by the scores.

The mother's meeting was well attended and interesting.

At night Rev. G. D. Watson delivered the clearest and most convincing sermon it has ever been our privilege to hear on Psa. 19:12. "Who can understand his errors. Cleanse thou me from secret faults." People he said were trusting in good works, growth, suffering and death for cleansing, and proved their errors; because they leave Christ's blood out. It is "The blood of Jesus Christ, His son, that cleanseth us from sin."

Sister Horner told the people very touchingly and effectively how she was sanctified.

Several at the altar: one man was convicted in his tent, and is now agonizing for salvation.

NOTES.

Arrivals not previously reported Revs. Benton, Hardy and Morrison of the M. E. Church, South.

Rev. H. D. Rice of the Cincinnati Conference.

The preaching thus far has been plain searching, spiritual, powerful and all have honored God by declaring his full counsel and leading the people to purity of heart.

At the sacramental service Monday ninety persons remembered the command of the Lord by partaking of the bread and wine typifying the broken body and shed blood of the Lord Jesus Christ.

At the close of afternoon meeting twenty-eight converted and twenty-five cleansed.

The shower at noon and rain to-night have cooled the air and laid the dust.

The people from Cincinnati who have attended Loveland, speak in high terms of our hotel fare. We can state that the charges are reasonable, the food good and ample, the waiters polite and attentive. The feed stable is in charge of men who feed well at reasonable prices.

Revs. S. G. Pollard E. L. Sanders and Mr. Benton have left; others are expected. There are twelve ministers here now.

Meeting still rousing and increasing in interest, the altar crowded at every meeting except the morning preaching service.

The Happy Pilgrim.

I saw a happy pilgrim,
In shining garments clad,
Traveling up the mountain,
It seemed that he was glad;
His back did bear no burden—
He'd laid it at the cross—
The blood of Christ, his Savior,
Had cleansed him from all dross.

CHORUS—
Then palms of Victory,
Crowns of Glory,
Palms of Victory we shall wear.

The summer sun was shining,
But he had found a shield—
A covert in the desert—
Upon life's battle-field.
His soul was filled with glory
As he kept pressing on;
He heard no other music
But what was heaven-born.

CHORUS.
No pleasure in sin's arbor
Could catch his eye or ear,
The precious name of Jesus
Was all he loved to hear.
Thus he kept pressing onward,
Delighted with the way,
And shouting, Glory! Glory!
To Jesus all the day.

CHORUS.
I saw him in the morning,
On Canaan's sunny plain,
Gathering for his Master
The rich and golden grain;
He bound them up in bundles
Until the angels came,
To gather in the harvest
In heaven his happy home.

CHORUS.
I saw him in midsummer,
Still happy on his way,
He'd reached the land of Beulah,
Where birds sing night and day.
He found a store of honey,
And wine upon the lees,
And fruit in rich abundance,
Upon life's living trees.

CHORUS.
I saw him in the evening,
Life's sun was bending low,
He'd reached the Golden City,
His robes still white as snow.
He joined the bridal cortege,
And drank of the new wine,
And now among the angels,
Eternally doth shine.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. Joseph Thompson and family, of Ironton, O., have located in Maysville.

Miss Mary Myall has returned from a visit to Mayslick and the Blue Licks.

Col. V. M. Metcalfe, of Hopkinsville, Ky., general southern agent for the celebrated Homestead Guanos, is in Maysville to-day.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writing from the Blue Licks says:

Sunday evening, under direction of Mrs. Blackburn, whose lovely influence has done so much to elevate so many Kentucky homes, there was a sacred concert given at the Arlington, and Miss Moffie Watson, a charming young Maysville girl, presided at the piano.

The State of Lewis at Large.

Your correspondent has visited eight voting precincts since the election and can testify that there is more rejoicing among the rank and file of the republicans over the recent election than with the victors. There has been no unusual demonstration with the democrats because they know it was the conservative republicans that caused the disbanding of the boss power. So it was indeed cheering to see and know the life tenure ring and their money is no longer the controlling power in the State of Lewis. Hereafter every man disposed to run for an office will be encouraged and free to do so.

Ruggles' Camp Grounds was taken in last week. The arrangements now made to entertain excell those of former years. We interviewed Elders D. C. Walsh, Northcott, Saunders, Bailey, Pollard, Bowman, Woods and Bradford, the force on hand to engage and teach the power of Jesus' name, until Sunday, the 27th, when Elder Walsh informs me will close for the season.

Joseph Moore, aged 84, died at his late home in Kinney bottom, on the 19th of August. For fifty years he was noted for his extraordinary memory of historical events, and distinguished for his integrity, honorable dealings and hospitalities.

Hon. Z. F. Smith, former State school commissioner, and now State agent for the Appletons, has paid us an interesting visit.

Col. Reese Dobyns, of Waverly, O., is now enjoying the healing waters of Escutapla.

Mr. Mace Stacy, a well to do farmer, residing on the head of Kinney, lost his dwelling and contents by fire, Friday noon. It was insured by Col. W. S. Rand to the full amount. Col. Rand recently paid for the loss of store and building, just over the line in Greenup county.

USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE.

—To clean a tea or coffee pot that has become discolored inside, put into it a teaspoonful of saleratus and fill two-thirds full of water, and let it boil two hours. Wash and rinse well before using.—The Household.

—Muffins: Mix together two teacupfuls of buttermilk, one teacupful of thick cream or three even tablespoonfuls of melted butter; four eggs and half a teaspoonful of soda. Thicken to the consistency of waffle-batter.

—A cement for stoves: If the stove is cracked, a good cement is made for it as follows: Wood-ashes and salt in equal proportions, reduced to a paste with cold water, and filled in the cracks when the stove is cool. It will soon harden.

—Tomato sauce to pour over meat is made thus: Stew half a dozen ripe tomatoes with a little chopped parsley, salt and pepper to suit taste; strain it, put it on the stove again, and when it begins to boil add a spoonful of flour rubbed smooth, with a teaspoonful of butter, and let it boil up once.—N. Y. Post.

—Curing Hay: When it is impossible to cure hay sufficiently in the field, clover can be put in the mow by placing it in alternate layers of clean, dry straw or old hay. Never let clover or other kinds of grasses dry so much in the sun as to have the leaves or heads drop off when it is being hauled or loaded.—St. Louis Globe.

—Moss on shingle roofs may be removed by the following method: Take a few pails of slacked lime, according to the size of the roof, and throw on the roof just before a gentle rain or just after a shower, while the roof is wet, and in a few days the moss will all loosen and the wind will blow it clean off the roof, leaving the shingles clean and white. The moss being of a spongy nature holds the moisture several days, which causes the shingles to decay, and also causes the roof to leak. The lime also acts as a preservative to the shingles.—N. Y. Tribune.

—Regarding the treatment of the disease termed "pink eye," of course the symptoms vary in different cases, but I will give some general directions which will be found serviceable. The horse should be placed in a well-ventilated stall, but not where he is exposed to any draughts. Warmly clothe the body and bandage the legs loosely with flannel bandages. Feed only on mill feed with a little cut hay during the sickness—no grain or long hay. Give one of the following powders on the tongue twice a day: Nitrate of potash, one ounce; pulverized gentian, one-half ounce and thirty drops of the following medicine in water four times a day; Tincture nux vomica, four drachms; tincture aconite root, one drachm.—American Farmer.

Confidence.

When the Duke of Cambridge was about to become the guest of Lord Stratford for a few days at the embassy, he went in his dressing-gown and slippers, at an early hour in the morning, to see that the rooms prepared for his Royal Highness were in order. Finding the Duke's valet arranging the trunks and portmanteaus which had arrived, the Ambassador began to give him directions how they should be placed. The man left off and stared at Lord Stratford.

"I will tell you what it is," he said, "I know how his Royal Highness likes to have his things arranged. So you just shut up and be off, old feller."

Lord Stratford went in a towering passion, and, calling one of the attaches, ordered him to go and tell the man who it was that he had ventured to address such language to. The attaché returned.

"Well, what did you say to him?" asked the Ambassador.

"I said to him, my Lord, that the person to whom he had ventured to address such language was her Majesty's representative in Turkey."

"Ah, quite right. And what was his answer?"

"He answered, my Lord, that he never said you wasn't."

Lord Stratford's anger would be appeased by anything which seemed ludicrous, and he enjoyed a hearty laugh with the attaché.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District, ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 29, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.
Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. j27d.
